father for many years was a member of the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

In early infancy she was consecrated to the service of her Saviour and all through her life she endeavored to follow His teaching. In her young womanhood she taught school for a season and October 1, 1871, was married to Lucius K. Ham at Slaters. ried to Lucius K. Ham, at Slatersville, Tompkins county, New York. They immediately came to Fulton county which locality with the exception of about two and one-half years has been her home. To this union were born four children, Lewis H., of Morenci, Mich.; Mrs. Nellie May Dill, of Wauseon, Ohio; Mrs. Bertha L. Randall, of Albion, Mich., and Edward J., of Oak Shade, Ohio., who with her bereaved husband and eleven grand children, survive.

October 25, 1913, she sustained an operation for a serious malady and for a time some hopes were enter-tained for her recovery but medical tained for her recovery but medical skill and tender loving care were unavailing and surrounded by those she loved so well she passed from the scenes of earth at the beginning of a new day, November 28. She will be sadly missed from her accustomed place in the home and the cheery greeting to friends and loved ones will be more he heard. But we may make the same and the cheery greeting to friends and loved ones will be more he heard. But we may be the same and the cheery greeting to friends and loved ones will be more he heard. o more be heard. But we mourn not as those without hope for the promise of Eternal Life was very lear to her and in her last illness ex-pressed the desire to be at rest with her Saviour.

Though our hearts are torn with the anguish of parting no more to meet this side of the grave we would not call her back for she "has borne not call her back for she the burden in the heat of the day" and to her weary form has come rest,
